Ruling today for defendants in drug bust

By CAROLE LANGE

Two defense motions for two of six defendants arrested last May for possession with intent to deliver or sell over 19,000 pounds of marijuana were denied Wednesday during a preliminary hearing before Justice Court Judge Joe Dobson.

The motions, presented by Martin S. Pinales, attorney for Michael D. Howard, 27, and R. Scott Crosswell III, attorney for Michael O. McKee, 28, asked for a gag order prohibiting press coverage of the preliminary hearing and for a hearing before a circuit court judge with a law degree. Pinales, McKee and Crosswell are from Cincinnati, Ohio and Howard is from Coral Springs, Fla.

Dobson is expected to render a decision late today on whether to bind over any or all of the six defendants to the July grand jury which convenes Monday.

Pinales asked for the gag order until circuit court begins "in order to assure a fair and impartial trial free from adverse publicity."

Talbot Smith, Ann Arbor, Mich., who is representing Jack P. Zatz, 27, North Lauderdale, Fla., Dennis Leighton, 31, Milford, Ohio, and Michael Steven Tiemer, 27, Bradenton, Fla., immediately retaliated that the press should remain in the courtroom claiming "We would never have known about Watergate if it hadn't been for the press."

He said press coverage of the hearing would in no way alter his intent to show that police officers involved in the arrest of his clients "acted in an unethical and clearly illegal manner."

District Attorney Albert Necaise concurred with Smith and complimented the press on "fair and accurate reporting" of the arrests and May 19 preliminary hearing for one of the defendants, William T. Allan, 28, Boca Raton, Fla., who was bound over by Dobson to await grand jury action. Crosswell made his motion for a hearing in circuit court before a lawyer judge based on the fact that a ruling handed down by the judge presiding over a preliminary hearing could not be appealed. Dobson does not have a law degree.

Dobson overruled the motion after Necaise argued that the Supreme Court has upheld the position that non-lawyer judges may hear cases of this type that do not deal with discovery.

Prior to hearing the motions, John Gennin, local attorney who is assisting attorney Jeffrey Meldon, Gainesville, Fla., with defense of Michael M. Ogden, 27, New Smyrna Beach, Fla., announced that his client had decided to waive his right to a preliminary hearing. Ogden will remain out on $50,000 bond until he appears before the grand jury next week.

Steve Ford, Mississippi Bureau of Narcotics agent, was the first of five witnesses called for the state. His testimony dealt with his involvement in surveillance of the defendants and subsequent arrest of Ogden at the Port Bienville loading site and Tiemer and Zatz in Slidell, La.

Before the trial concludes, it is expected that attorneys for the defendants will call approximately 19 witnesses, many of them law enforcement officers, and several of them also witnesses for the prosecution.

Morgue proposals shelved for ruling

By JAKE JACOB

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors, on the advice of their attorney Sam Favre, will seek an opinion from the state attorney general concerning the establishment of a county morgue.

Favre told the supervisors that no statute exists concerning such establishment although a morgue's installation would probably fall under the issues concerning a community's health and welfare.

County Coroner Carl Banderet broached the topic last week when he received the endorsement of the board, pending his provision of specifications suitable for bid purposes. Banderet's proposal included a long-term lease condition with Edmund Fahey Funeral Home for establishment of the morgue in space currently occupied as a garage.

Total costs were at that time given as $7,483 for a 4-door, refrigerated morgue unit, plus $1,090 to cover building modifications.

Such expenditures, he was told by the supervisors, would have to originate from next year's budget and therefore a bid opening date towards the end of September was proposed.

Subsequent to the June 28 meeting, Riemann Funeral Homes submitted a letter dated June 30 to the board offering alternate facilities for such an installation at the site of their former funeral home at 205 Union Street, a location now providing field office housing to the Mobile Medic Ambulance Service.

This location, the letter claims, is more central, would not be identified with either funeral home in town, and would require no equipment or renovation costs to the county.

The Riemann proposal was overshadowed by a petition, also presented at Tuesday's session, bearing some 17 signatures of property owners adjacent to the Union Street address.

The petition stated the "...undersigned citizens, taxpayers, and or voters, residing principally in the second block of Union Street..." are vehemently and unalterably opposed to the erection or establishment of a county morgue or any other type of

Petitioners ask to be excluded from Waveland annexation plans

A petition filed by Lower Bay Road property owners on Tuesday with the City of Waveland, "may result in a curtailment of that municipality's annexation plans."

Stating they have "...no desire to be annexed," the 19 signatories asked their property be excluded from annexation, an act being considered by the city to facilitate development of a proposed subdivision.

Determination of the signatures showed property locations are marginally involved in the proposed annexation area permitting their exception should council so decide.

City attorney Lucien Gex said contested annexation law suits are expensive, long, and drawn out, and indicated it may be better for the city to honor the request of the petitioners than to enter into litigation.

Council took the matter under advisement pending a final decision on annexation extent, requirement, service ability, and time table.

Board votes back pay to justice court judges

Based on the second opinion from the state attorney general's office concerning the payment of fees to justice court judges, Beat One supervisor Bert Courge motioned Tuesday that payments previously withheld by the county be released.

Courge requested the minutes reflect his motion was made as a direct result of the attorney general's opinion concerning citations supported by separate affidavits.

The beat one supervisor said he had checked the record of two justices within the county and found that all charges concerned did have a supporting affidavit.

"This motion is only to go back and pay justices for accounts due where multiple affidavits exist to support the multiple charges," Courge said.

Haas hopeful state's delegates will all swing to Carter in New York

By JAKE JACOB

Bay St. Louis attorney and Youth Court referee Michael D. Haas will leave Saturday to attend the Democratic National Convention as a delegate pledged to presidential hopeful Jimmy Carter.

Accompanying Haas to the convention site in Madison Square Garden in New York City will be Charles Blackwell of Gulfport and Martha Love of Waynesboro. Both Blackwell and Love were elected as delegates pledged to Alabama Governor George Wallace Feb. 29 at the district convention in Hattiesburg. Wallace has since released his delegates asking them to support Carter.

Haas, the only "official" Jimmy Carter delegate in Southern Mississippi, said the Carter forces hope to swing all the Mississippi delegates previously committed to Sergeant Shriver and Gov. Wallace over to the Carter camp, as well as those from the state who remain uncommitted.

Haas was elected a precinct delegate to the county convention on Jan. 24. The county convention, in turn, elected him one of their delegates to the district convention in Hattiesburg.

Serving with Haas, at the district and later the state convention were Hancock delegates Sylvan J. Ladner Jr., James Travirca, Mrs. Jean Townsend, Mrs. Barbara Kergosen, and Mrs. Rosemary McFarland. Alternate delegates, all of whom served at the state level, were Bruno Bruneaux, Charles Carter Jr., and Mrs. Charles Carter Jr.

The local delegation, having half a vote each for a total of three votes, delivered two to Carter and one to Wallace at the district affair.

The Carter delegates from the state's Fifth District then caucused and elected Haas their delegate to the national convention in New York.

Haas said this week while readying for the New York trip, that Carter captured his interest and attention early in the precinct level.

"I feel like he is the only man capable of making a change if he is elected," Haas said.

"He has a certain magnetism which attracts groups from every section of the country with a great variety of backgrounds. He has proven he can get votes."

Haas said Carter's record as governor of Georgia also speaks favorably for him.

"For instance," Haas said, "he consolidated the numerous state agencies into about 18 streamlined units, an organization that has proven itself in dollar savings and increased efficiency to the taxpayers of that state, and he has promised to do the same with the federal government."

"There is absolutely no need for all the federal agencies now in operation," said Haas.

Haas said he felt Carter could consolidate and trim the federal bureaucracy.

Haas, who is taking his wife and two eldest children, Tish and Michael, with him to the convention, said each delegate must pay his own way.

"We have a lot to do in New York," Haas said, smiling. The news services have given Carter the nomination on the first ballot, but we still have to select a vice presidential nominee, and vote on our Democratic platform.

Mississippi has 24 delegate votes. Originally four of these were Carter delegates. More have since declared their intention of backing Carter and Haas said he was hopeful by the time the vote is taken, all will be for the former Georgia governor.

Beach cleanup completed following menhaden spill

A bill for $286 has been submitted to the menhaden fisheries industry by Beat 4 Supervisor Sam Pernicaro, for sand beach clean up operations following last week's fish spill.

Vernon Niven, formerly of Bay St. Louis, and now manager of Sea Coast Products, Moss Point, said Monday he had requested Pernicaro to submit such an accounting following clean up operations on behalf of the industry.

Involving some 50,000 fish, the spill occurred immediately prior to the July 4 weekend at a time classed by Niven as being, "...the worst time ever from a public relations point of view."

Niven said that two spills were actually involved. One occurred off the Bay St. Louis beaches and the other in the vicinity of Pass Marianne, north of Cat Island and about 14 miles due south of Henderson Point.

Fish began washing ashore along about a one mile stretch of beach to the West of the Legion Pier last Tuesday, and others were reported over the weekend inside the Bay.

The three companies which operate menhaden (pogey) fishing vessels in the Mississippi Sound are Sea Coast, Standard Products, and Zapta-Hayne.

An industry investigation conducted immediately word of the spill was received determine which boat was involved and the cause.

"The captain was totally helpless in both cases."

"The net snagged on some unseen debris, probably left over from Hurricane Camille, and tore during the pursuing process."

"The captain sent word ashore and we promptly contacted the Mississippi Marine Conservation Commission, sent additional aircraft aloft to determine kill extent, and contacted local authorities requesting they institute clean-up measures," Niven said.

He said he personally flew over the area monitoring drift, and sink rate every day following the incident until he determined no fish remained on the surface.

Asked on navigational restrictions concerning menhaden operations, Niven allowed the vessels are permitted to operate within one mile of the beach in Hancock and Harrison counties although Jackson County permits fishing to the half-mile line.

"As a practical measure we observe a three-quarter mile limitation in Jackson County," he said.

He said that when empty and "riding high" it sometimes looks as though a person could walk out to the boats.

"Each is equipped with radar and the mile limit is strictly observed."

"Our aircraft spotter pilots do not have this advantage and will sometimes direct a boat to a school of menhaden swimming closer to the beach."

"The boat captains, who know they may lose their job, are extremely careful not to cross inside this distance and will let the fish go in preference to committing a violation."

Asked on the recent National Marine Fisheries Service and state conservation commission plans to develop a fisheries management plan for the Gulf, Niven said his industry was enthusiastic explaining they had already taken voluntary measures in this regard.

"The menhaden industry and the technical coordinating committee of the Gulf States Marine Fisheries Commission have already made significant progress toward development of a management plan," Niven said.

It is possible the industry will be able to implement the full plan by the 1977-78 menhaden season, although present operations methods are designed to fit in with sound biological management practices, he added.

Second management areas are proposed for the shrimp fishing industry.

J. Y. Christmas, senior fisheries biologist and assistant director of Gulf Coast Research Laboratory in Ocean Springs, said the shrimp plan will take about 12 months to develop.

"All menhaden taken in the Gulf for processing are landed in Louisiana and Mississippi; on the other hand, the shrimp fishery extends across the entire Gulf coast and includes many private companies. It involves at least seven species that are caught commercially and an extremely large number of people are employed in the fishery," he reported.

Career hints offered for winning a better job

For more than 20 years on an informal and formal basis, I've worked daily in the increasingly active career counseling profession.

In recent weeks, several key questions have frequently been asked of me regarding individual career choices. I'd like to devote this column to discussing these career questions while offering some answers and suggestions to that end.

It seems most working men and women wish for a better job believing their talents are not being fully utilized in their present work. In short, their productivity is low and their responsibilities seem to be dwindling in scope and importance, at least to their way of thinking. Thus, this question often arises: "How do you know when you're on the way out of your present position?"

Here are some telltale signs of an upcoming job loss: You receive no pay increases - you are not invited to important meetings - key, internal office memos bypass your desk - the boss avoids you - you are not invited to lunch or included in coffee breaks with your peers - ideas you submit are ignored or rejected.

The question that most naturally follows, then, is: "If the above signs are apparent, what can you do about it?" First, talk with your boss. Confront him - or her. Learn what is going on. Ask what you can do to preserve your position. From your boss, you will usually receive direction that will be highly helpful if not revealing.

Next, and this most always works, try harder and work smarter. (You know you can do this!)

Next, plug into the employee grapevine. Be sure to talk with your peer group. You can learn a lot from them.

Finally, improve your overall attitude and appearance. Buy some new clothes. Get into a health-building exercise program... and get a good suntan - even if it is from a sun lamp!

"What should you do if you know you are going to be out-placed or de-hired?" Several specific steps can be taken in winning a new (and often better) position:

Probe for other opportunities within your own company. Many times there are job openings in other departments, division, branches.

Look for possible job openings with your major suppliers.

DR. WHITT SCHULTZ

Alert close friends. Prepare a concise, one-page resume highlighting your strengths, successes, and over-all accomplishments.

Think hard about your career path: What firms interest you? Where do you want to locate? How can you fully utilize your present strengths?

Talk with your minister... your banker... and professional executive guidance counselors.

Study and respond to "positions available" ads in your local papers and trade publications.

Ask your present firm to out-place you in a professional manner working with and through top firms specializing in executive de-hiring or relocation activities.

Set thermostat on 78 to reduce cost

By NORINE BARNES
Most of you have received June's cooling bills, so this is a good time to talk about "Hot Weather Energy Savers."

Special summer energy saving tips include:

Set air conditioning thermostats no lower than 78 degrees. The 78 degree temperature is judged to be reasonably comfortable and energy efficient. One authority estimates that if this setting raises the temperature 6 degrees (78 degrees vs. 72 degrees) home cooling costs should drop about 47 percent!

Clean or replace air conditioner filters at least once a month. Turning the fan requires more electricity when the filter is dirty.

If you can confine your living space to fewer rooms, close off unoccupied rooms. If rooms are to be unoccupied for several hours, turn off the air-conditioning temporarily.

Buy the cooling equipment with the smallest capacity to do the job. More cooling power than necessary is inefficient and expensive. Energy-efficiency ratios (EERs) for most air-conditioning units should be available from dealers, and some window units are labeled to show the EER (the higher the EER, the more efficient the air-conditioner). If you don't see a label in the showroom, ask for the information.

Deflect daytime sun with vertical louvers or awnings on windows, or draperies and shades in sunny windows. Keep windows and outside doors closed during the hottest hours of the day.

Turn lights low or off when not used for seeing. Electric lights generate heat and add to the load on the air conditioning equipment.

Use vents and exhaust fans to pull heat and moisture from attics, kitchens and laundries directly to the outside.

Do as much of your cooking as possible and use heat-generating equipment in the early morning and late evening hours.

On cooler days and during cooler hours, open the windows instead of using an air conditioner or electric fan.

Turn off the furnace pilot light. But be sure it is reignited before you turn the furnace on again.

Dress for the higher temperatures. Neat but casual clothes of light weight cotton fabrics are most comfortable for men and women and are acceptable almost everywhere during the summer. Polyester double knit although very practical in other ways is not a "cool" fabric.

USM team gets EPA grant to study petroleum effects

SPECIAL TO THE ECHO
HATTIESBURG - A study of salt water bony fishes from the Gulf of Mexico will be made by a University of Southern Mississippi research team to determine the effects that the production of petroleum products has on the environment.

Dr. B. J. Martin, director of pre-professional curricula and biologist, will make the study. "Effects of Petroleum Compounds on Estuarine Fishes," under a grant of $85,669 from the U. S. Environmental Protection Agency.

"We'll be exposing these fish to certain chemicals in petroleum known to cause tumors or cancer," said Dr. Martin, "and we'll be looking at water quality."

Some fish already have tumors, and the USM research team will be trying to determine to what extent such condition already exists in order to evaluate how additional petroleum activities in the Gulf may affect the environment in the future.

Dr. Martin noted that Louisiana already is building an off-shore petroleum loading facility and that others are anticipated elsewhere in the Gulf. He said minor spillage might be expected from these facilities. Petroleum, however, is in the Gulf from other sources, such as spillage from tankers, pleasure craft, oil wells, industry, etc.

In discussing the possibility that people may be subjected to cancer organisms through eating cancerous fish caused by petroleum chemicals, Dr. Martin said such possibility at this time has "almost no likelihood. Gulf Coast fish now simply do not present this problem," he said.

Theoretically, he added, people might get cancer from eating the compounds (if a huge increase were to occur) that cause cancer in fish.

The study will primarily embrace chemically induced tumors in test (bony) fish.

Dr. Martin said that another result may determine that "fish—instead of rats or other standard laboratory animals—may be better for screening cancer-causing compounds." "Basically," he explained, "with X amount of petroleum in water cause a certain amount of increase of tumors in fishes and what will be the effect on water quality." This will be our research.

Induction of the chemicals into the fishes will be accomplished at a red brick building near the USM Observatory and will not be done in the laboratories on the main campus.

Cultivation is effective in weed control

By JOHN W. SMITH
Cold steel, properly used, is a definite weed killer and is often the cheapest method of controlling weeds. But done improperly, cultivation can be disastrous to a crop.

Cultivating too deeply and too closely to the drill can result in root pruning, which can cause plants to shed fruit. Cultivating should be shallow and far enough from the drill so that root pruning will not occur. The soil should also be left so that later weed control sprays can be applied uniformly.

HAY HARVESTING
More hay will be probably be harvested in July than in any other month. Make sure that you cut your hay at the right stage of growth. Most permanent pasture hay fields should be cut for hay when growth is 28 to 33 days old. This allows grass to produce a good yield and still have an acceptable quality. Once a pasture grass produces a seedhead, it is beginning to lose quality.

After the hay is harvested, it too should be tested for quality. The State Forage Testing Laboratory will analyze up to five samples of hay or silage per producer each year free.

SOIL TEST NOW
Land that is to be planted this fall to winter grazing or small grains should be soil tested now to determine lime and fertilizer needs.

A representative sample from each field will mean a sound recommendation from the soil testing laboratory. The recommendation cannot be accurate if based on a poor sample.

If lime is needed on land that is to be fallowed this summer for winter grazing, apply it before or between discings.

Cropland to be leveled this fall should be checked by soil tests for lime needs. Apply needed lime after leveling.

Senate clears military construction report; $21 million designated for state installations

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Senator John C. Stennis today helped gain Senate approval of the Military Construction Appropriations Conference Report providing over $21 million for military installations in Mississippi.

Stennis said, "I am extremely pleased that this final action has cleared the funds necessary to provide new and expanded facilities in Mississippi." The House of Representatives approved the measure yesterday. "Mississippi is fortunate to have an outstanding record in military activities and training which greatly enhances the ability to continue up-grading the facilities to allow our State to play an even larger role in the defense of our Nation," Stennis said.

Construction of a headquarters building for the Naval Oceanographic Office being transferred to the National Space Technology Laboratories in Hancock County was approved at $7.4 million. A Flight Simulator Facility at Columbus Air Force Base was approved at $5,717,000 as well as alterations to the sewage treatment plant at a cost of $750,000.

The Seabee Base in Gulfport received $4,551,000 for construction of a maintenance facility and $1,350,000 was provided for a utilities control system at Keesler Air Force Base in Biloxi.

The Army National Guard in Mississippi will receive $500,000 for construction of training facilities at Camp Shelby near Hattiesburg. The Air National Guard will receive $219,000 for construction of a Combined Automotive Maintenance and Equipment Shop at Gulfport and $615,000 for an Aircraft Engine Shop at Jackson.

Hancock school board approves $1.58 million budget

The Hancock School Board Tuesday approved a $1.58 million budget for the 1976-'77 school year.

The final budget, which included several cutbacks approved last week, must be presented to the State Department of Education for review by July 15.

Opening of bids took up the majority of the two hour meeting, with the following bids awarded: milk supply to all three schools in the District, Dairy Fresh, Inc.; ice cream supply, Borden's; propane supply, Blossman, Inc.; consumable garbage, John V. Ladner; gasoline and oil, Bay Oil, Bay St. Louis; fire extinguishers, Alarm Systems Co.; and roofing at Charles B. Murphy and Gulfview Elementary Schools, John R. Hayward, Waveland.

All bids on janitorial supplies and classroom and office supplies were accepted with the board voting to buy the least expensive items from the different bidders.

In other business, the board voted to reemploy George Miller as a bus driver at CBM. Miller's rehiring was recommended at last week's meeting, but the board postponed action in the event that James Baldree, CBM principal, received additional applications for the position.

Reason for the delay was that several board members said they had received complaints that both Miller and his wife were driving buses for the elementary school.

At Tuesday's meeting, Baldree said he had received two applications for the job, however neither of the applicants was a certified bus driver.

A 3-2 vote allowed James P. O'Hara, Hancock North Central High School principal, to reinstall telephones in the coaches' offices with the stipulation that any unlogged calls be paid for by the coaches personally. The phones had been removed earlier due to the number of unaccounted long distance calls.

O'Hara requested that they be reinstalled to give coaches telephone access in event of an emergency after school hours. Board president Monvel Cuevas and district four board member Eric Larsen, cast the dissenting votes.

When the board reconvenes later this month, distribution of the allocated $10,000 in the district's activity fund will be discussed. It was suggested Tuesday that Gulfview and Charles B. Murphy each receive $1,200 with the remaining $7,600 to be split between the band and basketball and football programs at Hancock North Central.

The board postpones action to allow the three principals and Superintendent Terrell Randolph to work out an equitable method of distribution.

AMA takes stand

THE WALL STREET JOURNAL, THURSDAY, JULY 1, 1976

TV violence cited health threat, networks asked to issue warnings

By JOANN S. LUBLIN
Staff Reporter of THE WALL STREET JOURNAL

DALLAS—The American Medical Association took a tough position against violence on television and urged physicians and their patients to refrain from viewing programs with violent episodes.

The AMA's policy-making House of Delegates also endorsed a proposal asking television networks to broadcast parental warnings about all programs that contain "episodes of violence that may have an adverse effect on some children." The delegates decried television violence as a risk factor that threatens "the health and welfare of young Americans, indeed our future society."

While encouraging doctors "to actively oppose" both violent television shows and their commercial sponsors, the delegates stopped short of endorsing a formal boycott. However, Dr. Thomas Elmendorf of Wilhams, Calif., whose delegation had introduced the resolution, said he hoped the AMA's action would nevertheless "affect the Nielsen ratings."

In explaining why he thought the AMA's stand was necessary, Dr. Elmendorf asserted that "There's increasing evidence that there is a relationship" between television crime shows and the recent upsurge in violent deaths among youth.

The physician organization's increased concern about televised violence partly springs from a report that appeared last December in the Journal of the American Medical Association. According to the report, the average 18-year-old American has spent more time in front of the television set than in the classroom. He views 15,000 hours of television before graduating from high school and witnesses 18,000 murders and countless incidents of robbery, arson, bombing, forgery, beating and smuggling.

Dr. Michael B. Rothenberg, a pediatric psychiatrist at Children's Orthopedic Hospital and Medical Center of Seattle, Wash., said in the JAMA article, "There is an average of six times more violence during one hour of children's television than there is in one hour of adult television."

The House of Delegates gave the go-ahead for the AMA to seek other remedies to the television violence problem—including further research, conferences with the broadcasting industry and publication of a booklet for parents. The pamphlet will be distributed by physicians and will advise parents about suitable children's programming.

Federal Regulations

In a move that reflected the AMA's anti-government posture, which is becoming stronger and more militant, the 234 delegates ordered association officials to go back to court if proposed federal regulations on hospital admissions of elderly and welfare patients don't "insure against federal intervention into the physician-patient relationship."

The AMA filed its first lawsuit ever against the federal government over these so-called utilization review rules in February 1975. The regulations sought to require hospitals to set up utilization-review committees that would review the medical necessity for hospitalizing Medicare and Medicaid patients. The AMA agreed to withdraw its suit last fall, after the Health, Education and Welfare Department said it would alter the rules. HEW's proposed revisions don't take effect until November.

Raymond T. Holden, AMA board chairman, promised delegates that "if there's no relief under the new regulations, we intend to immediately move back into court."

Since the utilization-review suit, the AMA has made two other legal challenges against the federal government. It sued to halt federal regulations to limit reimbursement for drugs prescribed to Medicare and Medicaid patients. And in May, the association sought to test the constitutionality of a new federal health planning law that took effect last year. The law provides for more than 200 local health systems agencies to be formed around the U.S. that will control health care planning and construction of hospitals and certain other medical equipment and facilities.

The AMA's leaders also indicated that the association's new aggressiveness will continue unabated. Dr. Max H. Parrott, outgoing AMA president, said in an interview prior to this week's convention, "Our constituency wants us to be more militant than we are." The government "has a gun at (the doctor's head). They're threatening his economic life," he said.

Dr. Richard E. Palmer, installed yesterday as the AMA's new president, said in an interview that organized medicine will fight the government "over anything that deprives the American people of good medical care or deprives physicians of freedom of action to treat their patients as they see fit."

The AMA's recent role as physicians' courtroom advocate against government controls appears to be finding favor among members. Dr. Lew W. Perinton, an alternate delegate from Wichita, Kans., asserted that physicians "have become much happier with what the AMA's been doing in the last year than they were in years before that."

And officials reported that 145,000 doctors, up from the anticipated 100,000, paid a special $60 assessment imposed last year to rescue the association from the brink of insolvency. The assessment was in addition to the regular $110 annual membership fee. The House of Delegates, which increased dues to $250 this year, voted yesterday to maintain that level next year.

About 152,000, or nearly 40% of the nation's 394,000 physicians, are dues-paying members of the AMA.

Back door reforms

It took a scandal to make an issue out of it, but the House of Representatives last week finally got around to changing a little-noticed law that gave the House Administration Committee the power to enact regulations without approval or prior knowledge of the full membership of the House.

It was that "back door" law that led to the abuses we've heard so much about in recent weeks. And it was that same law that gave such enormous power to former Chairman Wayne Hays.

After operating in a high-handed and irresponsible manner since the law was passed in 1971, it was only natural—I suppose—for the Committee to issue a new set of regulations just before stripping itself of the power to enact future regulations. They passed a whole new set of regulations having the force and effect of law and THEN recommended that their power be stripped.

Still, that's typical of the way things have been run by the liberal majority in recent years.

I fully agree that something should have been done. I even agree with some of the new regulations which, incidentally, won't go into effect until January 1 of next year. Most of the regulations are changes that should have been made long ago.

On the other hand, some of the new regulations should never have been enacted. If the full membership had been consulted, objections could have been raised and some of the regulations could possibly have been killed.

One new regulation, for example, will consolidate seven existing office expense accounts into a single account. The end result will be, in my view, an increase instead of a decrease in expense allowances. And a single account could lead to even more abuse than we've seen under the present system.

Later in the week the full House accepted the Committee's recommendation to rescind the 1971 law that gave the Committee the power to increase member's benefits without a floor vote. As a result—some would have you believe—any future increases in spending allowances or other benefits must be approved by the full membership of the House.

True to form, however, the majority included some fine print in the bill, H. Res. 1372. Excepted from the provisions are adjustments made necessary by: (1) any change in the price of materials, services or office space; (2) any technological change or other improvement in electrical or mechanical equipment; and (3) any increase in the cost of living which results in action under the Federal Pay Comparability Act of 1971.

In other words, if the Committee looks hard enough to find a reason, they can probably "justify" increases without going to the floor for a vote.

Additionally, the House approved a measure to create a Commission on Administrative Review. It will be composed of 15 members appointed by the Speaker: five from the majority party, three from the minority party, and seven from the general public.

The function of the Commission will be to conduct a complete study of the administrative services of the House, including staff personnel, administration, accounting and purchasing procedures, office equipment and communication facilities, record keeping, and allowances. The Commission will transmit semiannual reports to the House with the final report to be submitted no later than December 31, 1977, at which time the Commission's charter expires.

There's one big catch. The Commission will make no reforms. They'll just study the system—and we all know what happens when a government commission "studies" an issue. The issue just fades away with no real reforms.

In short, the House of Representatives stood at the crossroads of reform last week. The majority took the path of least resistance. They offered a few changes—which they called "reform"—and then passed the ball to a bureaucratic commission that has no real authority.

As I told some of my friends in the House, it was a classic example of closing the gate after the horses had already run out.

libraries and our schools and churches. We should become a "part of" not "apart from" our community affairs. Think Small. There are so few of us—we are needed! There is work, and play, and pleasure and safety for all of us here in our Hancock County "Smug Harbor". Let's keep it that way.

The shouting and the tumult... the bell ringing, flag waving and fireworks... the dancing and the picnics and the fairs have quieted following the most elaborate celebration our 200 years young nation has ever known.

But in its wake it has left a mark: a deeper appreciation of this land of liberty—a keener sense of our own responsibility to carry on. Liberty must continually be reclaimed. We, the people, are charged with the serious decisions. We'll be answerable, accountable and liable.

As our population grows and our territories expand our leaders are faced with problems and decisions unheard of, undreamed of. Land use, ecology, preservation of endangered species, relationship with other nations, underprivileged—deprived, fuel shortages—to name a few.

THINK BIG is the hue and cry. I disagree. Rather, in my opinion, we should think small. Not the tremendous question: "What can I do for my country?" rather the little question: "What can I do for my home, my neighborhood, my community, my country, my state...?" In "thinking big" most of us feel the best we can do for our nation is to vote... and vote wisely. This is true. This is difficult. Can we vote wisely each time. Is there, in fact, always a wise choice?

Think Small. Here we are in a small community. Here we have some power and some knowledge of how to control our environment. If each of us kept our own home, grounds, ditches, etc. in order and complied with regulations concerning trash and garbage pick ups our sanitation crews could do with less expenditure of tax money to do an efficient job. If each of us just went a half the second mile to assist our public officials by reporting any seemingly suspicious or dangerous situation we'd have less vandalism, fewer drug problems, safer streets and waters.

Think Small. We are a small community. A close knit community. We should use our public facilities, our

Senatorial 'courtesy' challenged

The sex scandals have had the effect of picking up the rock of Capitol Hill, and giving the public a glimpse of what scurriles underneath. The problem is not so much sex as it is the atmosphere of arrogant pettiness—the sheer effrontery of keeping a mistress on the public payroll, of voting yourself expense allowances on top of expense allowances and so on.

Such arrogance is so much a way of life on Capitol Hill that it takes a sex scandal to get anyone to stop and notice. But by cheapening life on the Hill, the humdrum abuses provide the soil in which the flagrant ones grow. As an example of the normal workaday pettiness so completely tolerated in the Congress, it is worth considering the little vendetta Senator Claiborne Pell of Rhode Island is running against Dr. Ronald S. Berman, chairman of the National Endowment for the Humanities.

Senator Pell has long had his own pet theory on how the endowment should dispense its funds, something about handing them out to state councils that would pass along $500 so a lumberjack could do some history. Under Dr. Berman's tenure, the endowment has instead used its funds for things like helping produce "The Adams Chronicles," funding the traveling museum exhibits of Chinese art and Scythian gold and funding serious scholarship. On these grounds, Senator Pell has determined to block Dr. Berman's reappointment.

Understandably, the Senator has had a little trouble picking up allies. He got the administration to postpone renomination for two months while it studied his complaints; after acquainting itself with the humanities, the White House quickly sent Dr. Berman's name down after all. The endowment's council, including holdovers from the last Democratic administration, stands something like 20-1 in favor of the appointment. And aside from Senator Pell, no one on the relevant Senate committee, Labor and Public Welfare, has expressed any opposition.

But thanks to the prevailing ethic on Capitol Hill, it looks as if Senator Pell may have his way. The nomination was sent down last February 11, and as Congress gets ready for its July 4 recess no hearing on it has been scheduled. Senator Pell is claiming something quaintly called "Senatorial Courtesy," extended to Senators from a nominee's home state or, in this case, the chairman of a relevant subcommittee. The doctrine of Senatorial Courtesy, plainly put, is that if a Senator has a grudge against a nominee he can keep his name from coming to a vote.

Even by the standards implicit in this custom Senator Pell's pettiness is pretty ripe, but so far his committee colleagues are going along with it. Committee Chairman Harrison Williams of New Jersey has the power to give Dr. Berman his day before the committee, and to insure that his reappointment is voted up or down by the light of day. But that is not always the way things are done on Capitol Hill, as Congressman Wayne Hays can testify.

MISSISSIPPI CONSUMER REPORT

A Service of the Consumer Protection Division Of The Office Of
A. F. Summer, Attorney General

HOME REPAIR SWINDLES

Every summer Mississippi is invaded by bands of itinerant home repairmen who swindle Mississippians out of thousands of dollars. Their basic approach is to charge outrageously high prices for very inferior work.

A common approach is to tell the homeowner that they just happen to be in the neighborhood on another job and will give the homeowner a very special deal. These con men may offer to waterproof a roof, install lightning rods, paint buildings, clean septic tanks or asphalt a driveway. Some Mississippians have paid thousands of dollars for two or three hours of work.

Unfortunately, the people who need to be alerted to this kind of scheme seem to be those who do not read warnings or who do not believe it could happen to them.

If a person is victimized by such a scheme, he should stop payment on any check as soon as he realizes his mistake. Also immediately contact the local police or sheriff's office and the consumer protection division of the Attorney General's office. It is also wise to write down a complete description of the individuals involved and their vehicles if possible. Of course, the license plate number is extremely helpful.

Mississippians with elderly relatives should consider discussing this type of swindle with them and perhaps even give them a copy of this warning.

HOLDER-IN-DUE-COURSE

On May 14, "Holder-In-Due-Course"—that strange sounding legal doctrine that has caused consumers to pay for shoddy goods and services (and even merchandise they never received)—was finally weakened.

A trade regulation issued by the Federal Trade Commission went into effect on that day and greatly restricted the anti-consumer elements of the doctrine.

Holder-In-Due-Course, simply put, meant that a finance company or bank that bought a consumer's finance contract from a seller was not responsible to the customer for the quality or performance of the goods purchased. Although most sellers and finance companies are reputable, there are some who used loopholes in the consumer laws, through agreements that resulted in the seller and the creditor becoming two distinct parties.

For example: You buy aluminum siding for $800 on credit. The seller, to get ready cash, sells your promissory note to a financial institution for $750.

The siding is put up in a shoddy fashion and never looks or performs right. The seller refuses to do anything about it. But you still have to pay because the lender legally had no responsibility to you for the performance of the workmanship of the aluminum siding. The same would apply to other items sold.

Now any installment contract signed by a customer must contain language indicating that the third party lender is subject to all claims and defenses which the consumer could assert against the original seller. Any refund from the company is limited to the amount paid by the customer. Consult your attorney if you feel you need to enforce this private right under the new FTC Rule.

It is believed that this change in the law will not be harmful to the legitimate businessman though it will encourage finance companies to exercise more caution in buying contracts from sellers with questionable ethics.

practice of leasing commercial space in city hall. Not wishing to impose hardship on their lease commercial tenants they voted Tuesday to issue a notice to vacate to Clarence Lee, proprietor of a barber shop located on the structure's ground floor. Such notice, they agreed, to become effective on or before January 1, 1977, a time span offering Lee adequate time to find alternate quarters.

The utilities office will be extended the full length of the building, as is the city administration's suite, and records moved into spaces formerly occupied by the library.

"We have to do something about those records," Alderman Dan Campion said, "the attic is bulging at the seams."

The utilities section is also to receive a night and after hours bill payment depository. Looking something like a mail box, the new drop will permit payment of bills on weekends, holidays, or after business hours.

In a quiet session, aldermen read the official report of the Bicentennial Committee into the record. The report covered activities of that group from March 1975 through July 1976. They also heard from the committee's public relations officer, Joe Pilet, who asked for and received a donation of $100 to help defray costs of their final, big event. This, the council heard, will be on Sept. 10 at Bay High Tiger Stadium and includes a presentation of items to be sealed in bank-donated safety deposit boxes, scheduled for opening on July 4, 1976.

They approved claim-dockets amounting to some $24,723 from the general fund, $3,139 from operation and maintenance, and $13,729.67 in water and gas department operations. Aldermen approved payments of $15,820.08 and $11,435.18 on completed street paving contracts related to the sewer project, and $18,907.52 in paving work out of revenue sharing funds. All went to Huey Stockstill, Inc. of Picayune.

Stockstill was also lone and successful bidder on a further paving job, involving Waveland Avenue, from U.S. 90 to the Louisville and Nashville Railroad tracks. He stated he would move his equipment onto the new location before the end of this week. Stockstill said his bid price of $37,616 includes level and fill work in addition to the provision of asphalt surface. Project costs are to be borne partially by the city and partially by the county in a split amount still to be determined.

Finally the council approved various types of piping scheduled for usage in the new subdivision; heard that their community development funds application was sufficient and is being actively considered by HUD; reacted favorably to an invitation to the city police department's annual dinner on July 19; decided to renegotiate the terms governing provision and payment for services business at 205 Union. Further, the petitioners claim, they "for more than 20 years have tolerated without complaint incredible inconveniences during the tenure of the operation of a funeral home at this location."

"Wine bottles and trash in our yards the morning after a wake, loud and profane language late at night in front of our homes, intolerable traffic problems, blocking of our driveways, etc..." are listed in the petition as reasons for such inconveniences.

"Since the funeral home has occupied other quarters, peace and tranquility has returned to our neighborhood which has now become truly residential," the petition reads.

Supervisors took both the letter and the petition under advisement after hearing Banderet state he did not mind where the facility was located providing its establishment became a reality.

"When I got elected to the job of county coroner I promised this would be one of the first things I would tackle."

"This thing is a must for the people of this county," Banderet said.

How do I know how much life insurance I need to carry?

The best way to find out is to discuss it with a qualified agent. Knowing your particular state of affairs... your needs and plans, is necessary to determine how much life insurance and exactly what kind will work best for you. There are numerous methods for determining how much life insurance you should carry. One basic formula was derived by the Institute of Insurance Marketing. A person should own from three to five times his annual income in life insurance. The premiums should range from 5% to 15% of this annual income. Obviously, this is only a formula. Everyone's situation is different and coverage should be specifically designed for the individual.

Board votes....

The original attorney general's opinion on the matter, dated April 22, was sought by Beat Five Justice Bill Frisbie who viewed the practice was a means for some justices to illegally line their pockets. Under the system justices charged the county $6 for each separate offense listed on a citation.

Board attorney Sam Favre, advised supervisors last April not to pay claims for multiple charges based on Summer's first ruling.

Assistant Attorney General R. Hugo Newcomb in the second opinion refers to the first opinion as "correct." However, he said circumstances could arise whereby subsequent to the issuance of a traffic citation, the arresting officer could appear before the court and execute two or more affidavits each covering a separate offense. Under these circumstances Newcomb alleged the charges could be entered on the court docket as separate cases and would be entitled to a fee from the county as provided by law.

The ruling implies that such multiple charges, when written on a single ticket, must be documented by separate affidavits. By implication all such cases must be docketed separately also to justify the separate fees being charged.

In other non-related matters, supervisors accepted the bid of Shaw Supply Co. of Nacaise Crossing on two road surfacing jobs in beat one.

The first, covering some 1.2 miles of main road inside the Springwood Park subdivision, was bid in by Shaw at $20,913 for a double bituminous surface treatment. His second bid of $6,468.15 covered a like treatment of approximately one quarter mile of Church Road in Pearlrington.

A second set of bids, concerning the asphaltting of the two areas concerned was received from Huey Stockstill, Inc., Picayune. His totals were $38,130 and $11,513.90, respectively on the two projects.

Bids covering the purchase of a trailer designed for heavy equipment hauling, needed in Beat 1, were opened and the award made to Strubling and Puckett, Inc., of Jackson, at a cost of $2,185. Other bidders were Scott Trailer of Slidell, $3,394, and Coastal Machinery of Gulfport at $2,250.

A further set of bids covering road and bridge supplies were taken under advisement. These were received from American United Products Corp., Natchez; Trans Mississippi Corporation, Winona; Mississippi Aggregate Co., Inc., Jackson; Polk Concrete Products, Jackson; Albert Woods Wholesale, Inc., Hattiesburg.

A letter from the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce was read into the minutes. It concerned the release of lands in the buffer zone, a matter said to be of "vital concern" to that organization.

The Assessor's Affidavit to the Personal Roll was also put into the book. It contained adjustments to the assessment of January 1976 concerning, in the main, a few minor transcription errors. Involved in the resultant tax adjustments were James A. Lindsay, Edward Sofra, Stuckey's Candy Co., Otto Bourgeois, P. B. Bannister, and Sylvester Rayfield.

The supervisors accepted an invitation to attend the Waveland American Legion Post 77 installation of officers ceremonies for both it and the Ladies Auxiliary yesterday, and heard of a like investiture for Post 139, Bay St. Louis today, a date in conflict with their joint session with the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission.

Finally, the county legislators instructed Sheriff Sylvan Ladner Jr., to contact architect Fred Wagner in respect to defects becoming apparent in the recent courthouse renovations.

Ladner agreed to undertake the mission saying the problems were increasing and cited such areas as peeling walls and baseboards as in need of urgent attention.

"The courthouse is becoming unglued," the sheriff concluded.

Senate-House committee approves $3.6 million for Trace construction

Senator John C. Stennis announced today that the Senate-House Conference Committee has approved $3,687,000 for planning and construction on the Natchez Trace Parkway in Mississippi. Prior to the Conference Committee action the Senate had approved an Interior Appropriations Bill providing $9,560,000 for Natchez Trace construction and planning in Mississippi and Alabama. The House of Representatives had approved $1.1 million for Mississippi.

The Mississippi Senator expressed regret that the House Conference had failed to approve the Senate-passed figures. "I have repeatedly urged the Administration and Congress to provide the funds to complete this long delayed project. While I am thankful that some funds were provided, it seems to me that the federal government is not fully keeping faith with the people who will most directly benefit from completion of this beautiful and historic parkway."

Stennis alluded to the energy crunch and the increasing tendency of families to take vacations that involve shorter distances. "The Natchez Trace Parkway is literally steeped in history. It is intended primarily to provide preservation of our nation's past and make it available to the public. I deeply regret that some of these historic sites will remain inaccessible to the American public even longer."

The funds approved by the Conference Committee provide $2,882,000 for construction of section 3-C northeast of Tupelo. The sections scheduled for planning work include $100,000 for 3-A at Natchez; $465,000 for 3-B in Prentiss County from Marietta to Macky's Creek; and $240,000 for 3-A-2 and 3-A-3 in Tishomingo County from Macky's Creek to the completed section adjoining the Mississippi state line.

Use of the funds is in accordance with priorities established by the National Park Service.

Gifts They'll Remember

There's no special gift to giving gifts that are "special." If you give some thought to these suggestions:

1. Buy for the person you're giving to, not for yourself. Just because you like something doesn't mean everyone will.
2. Practical presents are the biggest luxury. Give gifts that give pleasure but don't require great care.
3. Quality is more appreciated than quantity. Most men would probably prefer one good, 100-percent cotton shirt that will always look crisp and classy to several inexpensive synthetics—whether for business or sports.

TO SUIT A GOLFER TO A TEE—Smart golf shirt from the Jockey Golfwear Trophy Collection out of 100 percent cotton Durene.

AMERICA'S PEACEKEEPERS OPPORTUNITY FOR A FEW GOOD MEN

One question that faces many young men across the country is, "What comes after high school?" High School graduation is a time of serious thinking. There are some big decisions to be made. Will he build his future on the first job that comes along? Or is there a better way?

Today, many of these young men are considering the Marine Corps Reserve where they can learn a specialty as Marine Reservist and practice that specialty in a unit near their home.

A Marine Reservist starts out on the right foot with the famous Marine Corps training — including the same basic training that every Marine recruit goes through. He also gets training in a specialty. It could be in communications, electronics, mechanical/electrical skills, combat arms, aircraft maintenance — it all depends on his qualifications and the needs of his local unit. For the more technical skills, he can even request an extension beyond the normal period of initial active duty.

Then he returns home to practice his specialty in a Marine Reserve unit near his home. There are monthly weekend drills. And two weeks of Annual Training Duty each summer. The rest of the time is all his — to pursue a civilian career or attend college.

There are many benefits to consider. One is that the specialty you learn as a Marine Reservist could lead to the kind of civilian job you really want. Whatever the job, the fact that you are a Marine means that you have many of the attributes employers are looking for.

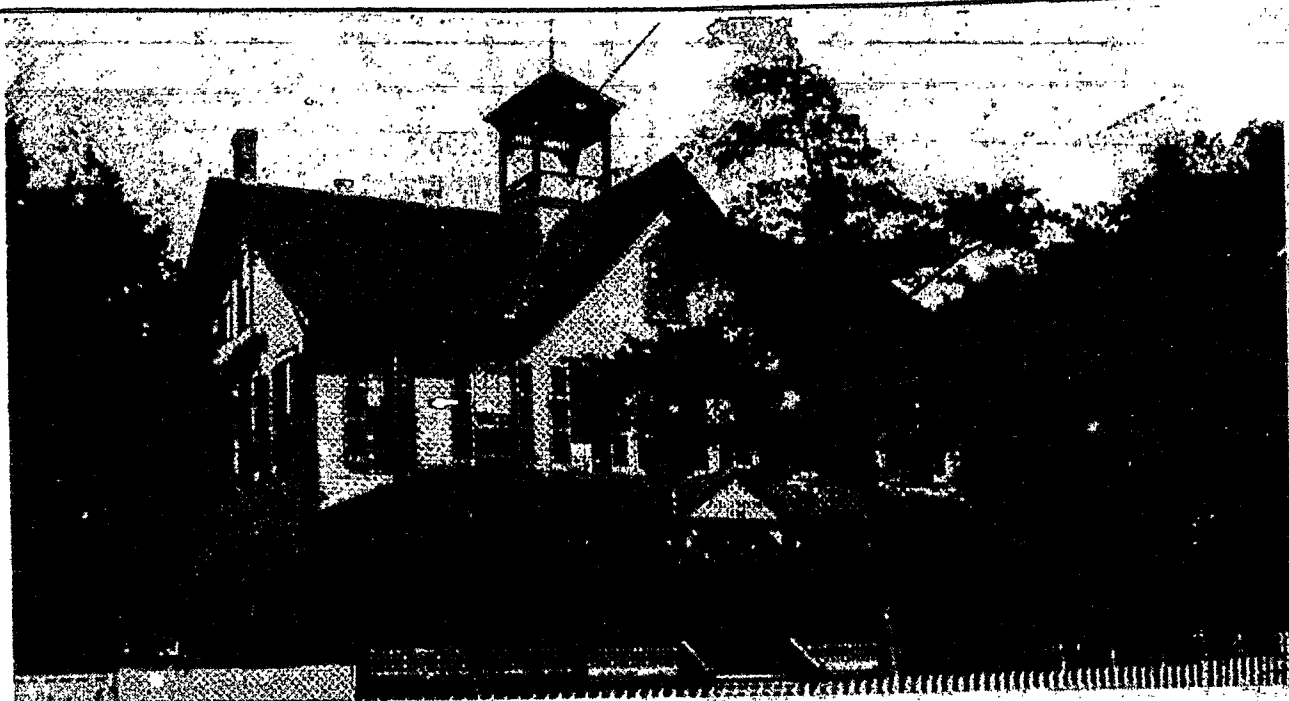

Another benefit is the pay. Good pay for your initial active duty training. And double the daily rate for your reserve service at home.

The greatest opportunity of all is that you'll be serving your country proudly as a member of an elite military organization. You'll stand among a few good men who help keep the peace — men who believe that nobody likes to fight, but somebody has to know how.

For details about the range of enlistment programs and opportunities in the Marine Corps Reserve, get in touch with your nearest Marine Corps representative. Or call toll-free (800) 423-2600. In California the toll-free number is (800) 252-0241.

FIRST BAY ST. LOUIS PUBLIC SCHOOL—This is the way it looked in 1891 when the Bay St. Louis public school took in students at its first location on Second Street at the site of the present Junior High School.

THE OLE PASTOR SAYS...

THERE CAN BE NO QUESTION about the fact we are living in an age of intellectualism. Most of us have been farther and seen more by the time we were twelve years old than our forefathers in a lifetime. Too many of us know much about many things, but too often find ourselves satisfied in our ignorance of some of the most basic and essential things.

To know God through His Son Jesus Christ is essentially more important than any other possible experience of our existence. Though a man have nothing, but has received Jesus Christ as Saviour and Lord, he is rich. On the other hand, if a man have all this world's goods, and does not have Christ, he is poverty stricken. A Rhodes scholar or a red-neck from Hootin' Hollow, neither amounts to much if he misses the salvation and security God has provided for us in Jesus Christ.

It seems the wisdom of this world has never been able to wisely and properly order its priorities. Someone has suggested Amos as a man who knew what was most important, and couldn't care less what the world thought about it.

The prophet Amos was not a world traveler. He was not a Ph.D. (Someone said that meant "post hole digger.") It probably never would have made the local newspapers about what seminary he graduated from. He had little political influence. He was not in good standing with the powers-that-be. He was not the local hail-fellow-well-met about the town. He was probably a joke to the Bethel Intelligentsia. He was utterly devoid of the qualifications for success in the courts of the capital, either civil or religious. It is very doubtful that he would have fit in with the charismatics and ecumenicalists of his time, or ours. But he had one thing going for him that all the claque of Jeroboam II were strangers to—in his humble life among his sheep and sycamores he had heard from God, and was happy in the heavenly reality of it. He had a hot line to Headquarters and orders from the Main office: Dr. Amosiah and all the polished gentlemen of the courts may have had the ear of the King, but they were not in tune with the Realm Above. Amos, like John the Baptist from the wilderness, like Paul from Arabia, and others who knew the meaning and joy of walking with God, not only knew where he stood, but also where he was going. Listen to the simple and forthright appeal of the apostle Paul to his own people who were well-versed in the letter of the law, but were ignorant of its real purpose, meaning and application.

"Brethren, my heart's desire and prayer to God for Israel is, that they might be saved. For I bear them record that they have a zeal of God, but not according to knowledge. For they being ignorant of God's righteousness, and going about to establish their own righteousness, have not submitted themselves unto the righteousness of God. For Christ is the end of the law for righteousness to every one that believeth" (Rom. 10:1-4).

Buying Watches

TIPS TO HELP YOU

Although watches have been around for centuries (since 1510, as a matter of fact), many people just don't know what to look for when they are faced with the decision of which watch to buy.

1. Be sure the watch is a product of a company you know and trust. An implied assurance of quality is the reputation of the seller.

2. Check the warranty—be sure it covers the entire mechanism (as the Sears warranty does) and that it promises reasonable repair services.

3. Make sure the watch is marked "water resistant" on its back. If an electronic watch is not water resistant, it will short out when wet and be ruined. (Some warranties don't promise anything pertaining to the case or crystal.)

4. Consider that solid state digital watches are prized for their accuracy. Sears' best digital, for example, are warranted to be accurate to within three minutes a year for a period of three years from date of purchase.

5. Realize that because digital watches have no moving parts they need less servicing—and never need winding.

Now, is your choice "crystal clear?"

Recruiting service shows new image

RANDOLPH, TX -- Beginning this month, Air Force applicants will be provided additional insight as to what type information they should seek from their recruiter before signing on the dotted line, officials have announced. To assist those considering joining the Air Force, recruiting service officials have assembled an eight-page informational fact folder, for distribution to all recruiting activities this month. The fact folder, titled "Things to Remember," contains such helpful hints as to what would be expected during the initial visit to the recruiting office, entry qualifications, a brief explanation of the enlistment contract, and a series of questions that should be asked of the recruiter.

It also describes job assignment agreements, the Guaranteed Training Enlistment Program, and what newcomers should expect once they have made the decision to enlist.

"It is our aim to portray Air Force life as it really is to our newcomers," said Maj. Gen. Andrew P. Josue, recruiting service commander. "We want them to become a part of our organization highly motivated, qualified and sure about their decisions."

A. Legion upsets OSC 4-1 to share Little League lead

Our Shopping Center saw its undefeated streak broken Friday as American Legion took a share of the second half league lead with a 4-1 win over OSC behind the four-hit pitching of Bruce Cabell.

Keith Hess had a perfect night at the plate for Legion with two singles and a triple for three AB's. Hess accounted for three of Legion's four runs also.

Gary Seeger slammed a double in the third inning to drive in Legion's final run.

Walter Ross, Steve Favre, Kevin Garrett and Jody Dorsey each had one hit for Our Shopping Center.

Legion's win upped their win-loss record to 5-1. The loss dropped OSC's record to 5-1 also.

Hancock Bank moved up one notch Saturday as Hancock went on a scoring spree to upset Merchant's Bank 17-2 in a game that was called after four innings. The win evened Hancock's record at 3-3. The game was a makeup of one rained out May 17.

Hancock first baseman Matt Rossetti led Hancock at the plate with three hits in three AB's. Rossetti also scored three runs.

Josh Hansel, starting pitcher for Hancock, had two for three at the plate and Dennis Rhodes and Brock Godwin each had two hits in four trips. For Merchant's Bank, Charles Oliver was the leader at the plate with two singles for two trips to the plate.

Gulf National and Merchants both picked up a win and suffered a loss this past week to remain 2-4.

Gulf picked up a 12-2 win over Merchants Friday as Joe Gex pitched three hit balls for the GNB Cards. The game was halted in the fifth because of the 10 run rule. Gulf dropped a game last Wednesday to American Legion 9-6 as Scott Moore picked up the win on the mound for Legion.

In the second game Wednesday, play was halted in the third inning between Hancock Bank and Riemann's Funeral Home because of lightning. The game will be continued at a later date.

Oak Downs

Esso Chick declared winner in disputed finish

(Special to The Echo)
PEARL RIVER, La. - The Fourth of July racing program at Oak Downs ended with a bang.

The crowd was primed for a good race between Teddy Bar Mac and Esso Chick - and that's what it was, a good close race.

So close, in fact, it was a photo finish. But there was no photo taken.

Just seconds before the gates were opened, a power failure shut down operation of the camera and the horses streaked across the finish line without the benefit of a "running strip."

The judges ruled that Esso Chick, nearer to the outside rail, was the winner by a head over Teddy Bar Mac.

In four of the 11 races, horses posted Class A times.

Tommy's Love Bug was clocked in 18.84 seconds in winning the 350-yard fourth over Running Bull (19.51).

- Go Bill Bars hit the wire in 18.66 in the 350-yard seventh against Quardro Luck (19.16).

- On And On captured the 300-yard eighth in 16.36 against Go Go Go (16.74).

- And under special race conditions by which the favored Go Failla Go (17.66) had to win by daylight, Old Stupid (17.685) was declared the winner in a 330-yard test.

Two Hancock County horses were victorious on Sunday's program.

Robert Mitchell's Mo Jo Bailey, trained by Edward Patton, took the 250-yard sixth race against Slow John (14.94).

Dennis Jr., owned and trained by James Watson of Bay St. Louis, won the 300-yard ninth race against Rapid Farmer (17.29).

Sunday's results:

1) 5 furlongs, Star City, 1:05.34, Eddie Zundel, owner and trainer; Joey Meyer, jockey. Flying Joe, 1:05.87.

Trouble No More, 1:06.335.

2) 440 yards, Musco's Baby, 24.18 seconds, Andrew Jaeger, owner; Merlin Marechal, trainer; John Hirdes, jockey. Lady Alcova, second.

3) 440 yards, The Gray Ghost, 24.28, J.D. Ory, owner; Rocky Harris, trainer; Dennis Ory, jockey. Mac's Again, 24.80.

4) 350 yards, Tommy's Love Bug, 18.84, Allen Wiseman, owner; Merlin Marechal, trainer; John Hirdes, jockey. Running Bull, 19.51.

5) 250 yards, Holly's Red Glow, 15.985, Holly Summers, owner; C.E. Summers, trainer; Steve Roubion, jockey. No Dab, 16.03.

6) 250 yards, Mo Jo Bailey, 14.28, Robert Mitchell, owner; Edward Patton, trainer;

Ronnie Hirdes, jockey. Slow John, 14.94.

7) 350 yards, Go Bill Bars, 18.66, Holly and Howard Summers, owners; C.E. Summers, trainer; Charlie Silkwood, jockey. Quardro Luck, 19.16.

8) 300 yards, On And On, 16.36, Reo Burns, owner; Cathy Burns, trainer; Steve Roubion, jockey. Go Go Go, 16.74.

9) 300 yards, Dennis Jr., 17.02, James Watson, owner and trainer; Dennis Ory, jockey. Rapid Farmer, 17.29.

10) 330 yards, Old Stupid, 17.685, Jimmie Magee, owner and trainer; Charlie Silkwood, jockey. Go Failla Go, 17.66 (Failed to win by daylight under special conditions of the race).

11) 200 yards, Esso Chick, no time, C.E. Summers, owner and trainer; Charlie Silkwood, jockey. Teddy Bar Mac, second.

Bicentennial honored

at pair's party

Two "cousins of Uncle Sam" staged a joint birthday party on Saturday, July 3, at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony C. Bourgeois of 115 Market Street, Waveland.

Danielle Trayce Bourgeois became officially seven years old on Independence Day. Her brother, Tony C. Bourgeois, made a three count on July 2.

Tony welcomed their 20 or so guests by telling them he was six that day. The guests didn't seem to mind too much and got into the swing of things playing pin the tail on the donkey, bean bag in the box, hot potato, and such indoors before moving outside to participate in the "great foot race."

Decorations were red, white, and blue, both inside the house and on the cake, in honor of the Bicentennial. Guests attending included: Rose Mary Laigaste, Troy

Laigaste, Catherine Mayer, Dot Weidman, Debbie Heitzman, Christy Heitzman, Mackey Weidman, Chelly and Wine Weidman, John and Randy Perkins, Cindy Bourgeois, Jay Bourgeois, and Audrey Evans.

Christ Episcopal to hold bicentennial celebration

There will be a Bicentennial celebration at Christ Episcopal Church July 11 at 10 a.m. with Bishop Duncan Gray Jr., present for the occasion.

After the morning service, there will be an old fashioned "bring your own" dinner on the grounds under oak trees overlooking the Gulf. The afternoon service will consist of a presentation of the history of the Episcopal church in America and its relationship with the Revolution. Closing event of the day will be a concert presented by the Soul Choir from Keesler Air Base. The public is invited.

Echoes

A "Good-Bye Bicentennial" cook-out was held July 4 in the home of Mrs. Carole Lange, Bay St. Louis.

Guests attending and participating in a parade to the beach for a fireworks display were Dan Barber, Maria Mutzi, Randy Ponder, Sherry Ponder, Jake Jacob and Evelyn Cox, all of Bay St. Louis; Joe Lee, Louis Clark, Ed Young, Shandra Young, Pat Bagley, John Williamson and Chet Gaugher, all of Jackson; Bobby Brown, Starkville; and Carroll Shuffield, Gulfport.

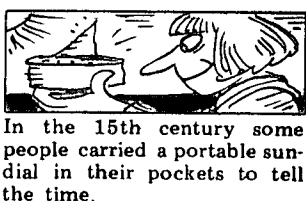

Weekend guests of Mrs. Joseph J. Scaffidi were her sons and daughters-in-law, Major and Mrs. Carlo Scaffidi and daughter Theresa, Columbus, Ga.; Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Scaffidi and daughter Jennifer, Pensacola, Fla.; and Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Scaffidi and son Steve, Mississippi City.

Major Scaffidi will leave later this month for overseas duty.

FLAG RAISED - The American flag is unfurled and hoisted to the top of its new pole in front of the newly dedicated Civic Center.

Good weather, plenty people and good fishing marked this year's 4th of July holidays. House parties, beach parties, swimming, skiing, fishing, gave everyone all they could do. The beach front looked like Canal Street with summer homes lit up and floundering and soft crab lights dotting the beach from Cedar Point to Bayou Cadet. Soft crabbing was good and a lot of flounders were stuck over the long weekend.

We think skiing, boating and fishing took first place, with swimming topping them all. Our municipal pier, the American Legion Pier and the pier at Dunbar Ave were crowded with crabbers and fishermen, all having a great time participating in sports of their choice.

Went to La France's Fishing Camp the other day. Got information that plenty speckles and red fish are being caught most every where in this area even bass (green trout). The camp is on Campbell's Bayou. Most of the bass are being caught up Grand Plain late in the evening when the tide is falling. La France's Camp has launching facilities, and live bait plus boat parking space. Ask for Marie or Bob Little for fishing information. Toxie Hall is also there. Swell people.

Did you hunters know that the 1976-77 pamphlets are now available, giving the hunting seasons, limits and regulations. They can be gotten at the Court House or any place selling licenses. The license stub should be kept in a safe place. No lost or damaged licenses can be replaced unless the stub is presented to the Game and Fish Commission.

Read where Russell Elliot revived a 16-year-old youth from near drowning with help of Harold Saucier and Retis King. This is nothing unusual for Russell. He has probably saved more people than anyone on the Gulf Coast. Pure observance and quick action accomplishes everything.

Pearl River is clearing beautifully. With the low tides, catching bass and perch is coming into its own in the shrimp last weekend. Caught a couple of barrels of them.

John and Ouida Parker caught 38 speckles, 1 to 1 1/4 lbs., on left handed baits.

Mike Wilkerson of N.O. caught redfish and speckles. He has a Boston Whaler with a 100 out board motor, which he enjoys with his friends.

Dickson and Bobbye Shoute visiting from Mexico returned home Monday after spending a month at the Bay with friends.

SPORTSMAN OF THE WEEK—Most local fishermen know Henry J. Prevou who is one of our best fishermen. Does salt water fishing, crabbing, etc. Usually gets his share of the finny tribe.

you want. Caught the limit up Grand Plain Bayou last Wednesday.

Gino and Francio Lacey got 3 flounders and some red fish last week. Don't know where they caught them, but they had a time getting them.

Met Ledet Walker again this week. Walker has a trailer down at La France's camp. He is from Bogalusa and had as his guest Dr. Vernon Mizell. They went for speckle trout Saturday and Sunday at Half Moon, etc. Sure they caught them for they are being caught there and in the Marsh. Ledet is a salt water fisherman and catches his share of the speckled beauties.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Dalstrom from Texas came over to spend the 4th of July with friends at Bay St. Louis. Was good seeing them. They are at home here. Bob has been coming here for years.

Connell Vallette and Billy Lawrence caught redfish and croakers near the Bay St. Louis bridge Saturday using dead shrimp for bait.

Jim Fornes of Pearlport, besides pulling in fish, pulled two guys out of the water at the Rigolets whose boat turned over. He also caught speckle trout, green trout and croakers.

Pat Fanning, Tim Fanning, Karl Winter and Susan Calonge, did some fishing, etc., on the 4th. They are from New Orleans.

Joe Wyman, a commercial fisherman got his share of Ray Garner and Yours Truly attended a Bicentennial celebration at the home of Bobbie Trelles in Waveland. Of course "Wild Bill" Stewart helped entertain guests. The party wound up by watching the fireworks display at Coleman Ave.

Echoes

A Fourth of July celebration was staged at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tunas T. Cuevas of Catahoula. The event was highlighted by the serving of barbecued goat, beef, chicken, and pork.

Among those attending were: Gene Cuevas with his children Kathy and Duke; Mr. and Mrs. Roger Dale Cuevas and daughter Toni Lynn and Mr. and Mrs. Dan Seal, all of Catahoula; Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Hebert and children Pat and Anna of Bear Hill; Mrs. Annie Ruth Dahl, Melanie San Filippo, Andrew Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Martin and children Kelly and Cheneay and John Gavagnie, all of Bay St. Louis; Mr. and Mrs. Ivy Nicaise, Mr. and Mrs. William "Bill" Saucier and son Alfred and Mr. and Mrs. Sonny Broadus, all of Gulfport.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Krafka and son Joey of Brownsville, Tex., have returned to Texas after spending two weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Becker at their Chartres St. home.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Breaux had as weekend guests their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Breaux and son Eugene Jr. of Marrero, La. Saturday they joined Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ouder at their Shoreline Park home for a barbecue.

Others attending were Harold Ouder Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. Dwight de Priest and son Troy of New Orleans, La. and Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Huber Jr. and son Charles, Marrero.

Cytotechnology proficiency exam scheduled in November

The third proficiency examination for cytotechnology personnel desiring to qualify as cytotechnologists under Medicare-Medicaid, will be administered throughout the country Nov. 5, 1976.

The Medicare regulations for independent laboratories allow cytotechnology personnel who do not meet the formal education-training requirements to qualify through proficiency examination for a period of time ending Dec. 31, 1977.

Eligible individuals not presently employed in a Medicare approved independent laboratory are also encouraged to take the examination, since they might in the future desire employment as a cytotechnologist in an independent dependent laboratory under Medicare. Further, there are plans to extend certain provisions of the regulations to laboratories in Medicare-participating hospitals and other facilities.

The examination was prepared by a private testing organization and was developed especially for persons whose skills and knowledge were acquired primarily through practical work experience rather than through formal professional education.

Certain eligibility requirements must be met in order to take the examination. The examination will consist of three sections, including visual materials, and will be administered in a morning session and an afternoon session. The examination will cover both gynecological and nongynecological cytotechnology. There is no charge for the examination, but expenses will be responsible for their own travel expenses. Deadline for submission of applications to: Health Facilities Certification, Mississippi State Board of Health, P.O. Box 1700, Jackson, MS, 39205 by Aug. 18, 1976.

Inquiries concerning eligibility for the examination, and requests for application forms should be directed to the above address.

By L.S. (Doc) Elliott

Good weather, plenty people and good fishing marked this year's 4th of July holidays. House parties, beach parties, swimming, skiing, fishing, gave everyone all they could do. The beach front looked like Canal Street with summer homes lit up and floundering and soft crab lights dotting the beach from Cedar Point to Bayou Cadet. Soft crabbing was good and a lot of flounders were stuck over the long weekend.

We think skiing, boating and fishing took first place, with swimming topping them all. Our municipal pier, the American Legion Pier and the pier at Dunbar Ave were crowded with crabbers and fishermen, all having a great time participating in sports of their choice.

Went to La France's Fishing Camp the other day. Got information that plenty speckles and red fish are being caught most every where in this area even bass (green trout). The camp is on Campbell's Bayou. Most of the bass are being caught up Grand Plain late in the evening when the tide is falling. La France's Camp has launching facilities, and live bait plus boat parking space. Ask for Marie or Bob Little for fishing information. Toxie Hall is also there. Swell people.

Did you hunters know that the 1976-77 pamphlets are now available, giving the hunting seasons, limits and regulations. They can be gotten at the Court House or any place selling licenses. The license stub should be kept in a safe place. No lost or damaged licenses can be replaced unless the stub is presented to the Game and Fish Commission.

Read where Russell Elliot revived a 16-year-old youth from near drowning with help of Harold Saucier and Retis King. This is nothing unusual for Russell. He has probably saved more people than anyone on the Gulf Coast. Pure observance and quick action accomplishes everything.

Pearl River is clearing beautifully. With the low tides, catching bass and perch is coming into its own in the river proper and its tributaries. Either going up or down the river, there is some wonderful fishing with the fly rod, casting, or still fishing. Making things easy for fishermen is Roy Baxter's Marina at Pearlport where you can launch a boat, leave your car in safe hands and fish contentedly. You can also purchase Louisiana Licenses from Roy. Don't go fishing in La. unless you have one.

"Many people in Louisiana are receiving citations because they do not know or are disregarding the laws concerning boating safety," J. Burton Angelle, director of the Louisiana Wildlife and Fisheries Commission, said this week.

He said that many boaters are violating the law that all persons 12 years of age or younger must wear a Coast Guard approved personal flotation device (PFD) while underway in a motorboat which is less than 26 feet in length.

He also said boats towing a skier must have an observer in the boat in addition to the operator.

He said all recreational boats less than 16 feet in length and all canoes and kayaks must have a Coast Guard approved Type I, II, III, or IV PFD for each person aboard. All recreational boats over 16 feet in length must have one Type I, II, or III device for each person and also one throwable Type IV device.

The PFD's must be easily accessible to everyone on board.

Did you know that the Outdoor Watchdog, the official publication of the Mississippi Wildlife Federation, is a publication which all sportsmen will like and should read. You can subscribe to it by writing Box 1814 Jackson, Miss. 39205. Try it, you'll like it.

For the guys who enjoy fly fishing or casting, bass (green trout) have been caught everywhere for the past week. Up Jourdan River, at Ansley, over at Wolfe River, at DeLisle, and even Pearl River itself is good in spots. If we don't have too much rain in the next couple of weeks, look for all the fresh water fishing shrimp last weekend. Caught a couple of barrels of them.

John and Ouida Parker caught 38 speckles, 1 to 1 1/4 lbs., on left handed baits.

Mike Wilkerson of N.O. caught redfish and speckles. He has a Boston Whaler with a 100 out board motor, which he enjoys with his friends.

Dickson and Bobbie Shoute visiting from Mexico returned home Monday after spending a month at the Bay with friends.

SPORTSMAN OF THE WEEK—Most local fishermen know Henry J. Prevou who is one of our best fishermen. Does salt water fishing, crabbing, etc. Usually gets his share of the funny tribe.

you want. Caught the limit up Grand Plain Bayou last Wednesday.

Gino and Francio Lacey got 3 flounders and some red fish last week. Don't know where they caught them, but they had a time getting them.

Met Ledet Walker again this week. Walker has a trailer down at La France's camp. He is from Bogalusa and had as his guest Dr. Vernon Mizell. They went for speckle trout Saturday and Sunday at Half Moon, etc. Sure they caught them for they are being caught there and in the Marsh. Ledet is a salt water fisherman and catches his share of the speckled beauties.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Dalstrom from Texas came over to spend the 4th of July with friends at Bay St. Louis. Was good seeing them. They are at home here. Bob has been coming here for years.

Connell Vallette and Billy Lawrence caught redfish and croakers near the Bay St. Louis bridge Saturday using dead shrimp for bait.

Jim Fornea of Pearlport, besides pulling in fish, pulled two guys out of the water at the Rigolets whose boat turned over. He also caught speckle trout, green trout and croakers.

Pat Fanning, Tim Fanning, Karl Winter and Susan Calonge, did some fishing, etc., on the 4th. They are from New Orleans.

Joe Wyman, a commercial fisherman got his share of

Cytotechnology proficiency exam scheduled in November

The third proficiency examination for cytotechnology personnel desiring to qualify as cytotechnologists under Medicare-Medicaid, will be administered throughout the country Nov. 5, 1976. The Medicare regulations for independent laboratories allow cytotechnology personnel who do not meet the

ployment as a cytotechnologist in an independent dependent laboratory under Medicare. Further, there are plans to extend certain provisions of the regulations to laboratories in Medicare-participating hospitals and other facilities. The examination was prepared by a private testing organization and was developed especially for persons whose skills and knowledge were acquired primarily through practical work experience rather than through formal professional education. Certain eligibility requirements must be met in order to take the qualifying examination. The examination will consist of

three sections, including visual materials, and will be administered in a morning session and an afternoon session. The examination will cover both gynecological and nongynecological cytotechnology. There is no charge for the examination, but participants will be responsible for their own travel expenses. Deadline for submission of applications to Health Facilities Certification, Mississippi State Board of Health, P.O. Box 1700, Jackson, MS, 39205 is Aug. 18, 1976.

Inquiries concerning eligibility for the examination, and requests for application forms should be directed to the above address.

Echo wedding policy

The Sea Coast Echo realizes that your wedding is one of the most important days of your life, and we can help you preserve that memory through an accurate account of the event.

Your cooperation is necessary to assure that the information we receive is correct and timely.

The Echo supplies engagement and wedding announcement forms free of charge. These forms should be completed and returned to the Echo at least two weeks prior to the event. In the case of engagement announcements, it is preferable to print them at least two weeks prior to the wedding. The wedding announcement will not appear in the paper if it is delivered to the Echo more than two weeks after the wedding.

There will be no exceptions to this policy.

Most brides prefer to have a black and white photograph appear with their engagement announcement. Only good, clear, professional black and white photographs will be used, either 5x7 or 8x10. The Echo will not accept color photographs.

Black and white photographs to accompany the wedding announcement may be of either the bride or of both the bride and groom. If the bride does not have a formal black and white portrait taken prior to the wedding, she can arrange with her photographer to take one that day. Reputable photographers will have the pictures back within a relatively short period of time.

Buccaneer Crew Notes

by DIDDY QUINLAN

Anxious campers began filling the park early in the week in preparation for a long weekend of celebration. Tuesday night, everyone had a chance to share in food, fun and conversation at the Pot Luck Supper hosted in the Recreation Center, and Thursday, one of the staff here celebrated a happy birthday and Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Roberts celebrated their 34th wedding anniversary.

Friday night was highlighted by a ping pong tournament won by Chris de Paschal of New Orleans, La. followed by Tom Ledet also of the Crescent City. Congenial crowds gathered at the picnic areas Saturday morning, while others relaxed around the pool. Campers had a chance to meet their neighbors at a dance Saturday night, when dancing and free refreshments were provided for a donation of 25 cents.

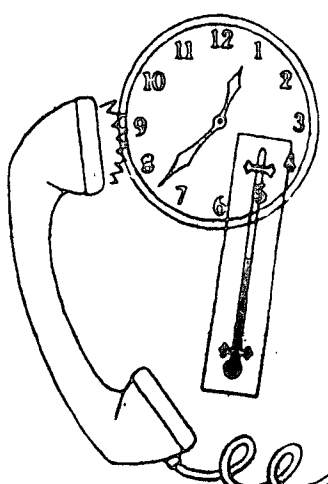

Sunday's activities included a swim race split into three divisions. In the 12-15-year-old division, David Arms, 12, of Thibodeaux, La. stole first place, followed by Dennis Harrison, 14, of Baton Rouge, La. and Jimmy Danos, 12, of Thibodeaux. In the 8-11-year-old division, Sonny Martin, 11, of Avondale was the winner followed by Kim Breland, 11, of Bay St. Louis. In the under eight division, Todd Harrison placed first with Jason Neraise of Bogalusa, La. finishing second.

There were two family reunions Sunday in the sheltered pavilions. Both the Breland and Pernicario Families enjoyed get-togethers over the Bicentennial weekend.

Veterans should check before making equipment purchases

Disabled veterans who are entitled to purchase or replace adaptive equipment for their automobiles with government financial assistance should check first with the Veterans Administration to make certain the equipment has been approved, Mr. William K. Anderson, V.A. Center Director, said today.

New VA standards as to the quality and safety of such equipment went into effect on January 1, 1976.

Anderson said an estimated 63,000 disabled veterans of World War II and thereafter are eligible or have already received assistance in the purchase and equipping of automobiles.

Under the VA program, a one-time grant of up to $3,300 is available to eligible veterans for the purchase of an automobile.

The VA will then provide financial assistance in purchasing special adaptive equipment which will allow the vehicle to be operated by paralyzed persons or amputees.

The VA program also provides for the repair, replacement or reinstallation of such adaptive equipment.

Depending on the nature of the veteran's disability, the adaptive equipment can provide for hand control of brakes and accelerator, relocation of foot controls or power equipment for seats and windows.

The amount of VA financing for adaptive equipment is not fixed but depends on the needs of the individual veteran.

Eligibility for benefits under this program is limited to veterans of World War II and thereafter and current service personnel having service-connected loss, or permanent loss of use of one or both feet or hands, or permanent impairment of vision of both eyes to a prescribed degree.

Interested veterans should contact a VA benefits counselor or a prosthetics representative at the nearest VA office, hospital or outpatient clinic, or a veterans organization, service representative.
